

Volunteer Spotlight Margaret Hart

THE VILLAGE

*“How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a weary world.”
~William Shakespeare*

Every new resident that enters the doors of the Johnson Center is presented with a crocheted lap blanket, made by Village resident and volunteer, Margaret Hart. She happily crochets with a friend that supplies her with different colors of yarn to make the 3 x 3 piece. Each one has at least 12 different stripes in it. They just make observers happy to look at them draping arm chairs and beds in their rooms or being toted with them around the hallways. Each takes about twenty hours to make and when given, have a “handmade with blessings and love” card with them signed by Margaret. Prolific is a word that describes her donations. Twenty-six in one year!

The Johnson Center residents would like to thank Margaret for her lap blankets made for them by her “just to keep busy.”
